Elite academics. Elite athletics.

America's great private research universities never chose between the classroom and the scoreboard.

Vanderbilt

Admitted under-investment, launched a $300 million plan, and in 2025 won 10 football games for the first time ever.

Northwestern

Donors privately funded an $862 million football stadium, opened in 2026.

Duke

Five men's basketball national titles at one of America's most selective universities.

Stanford

25 straight Directors' Cups (1995–2019) for the nation's best athletics program.

What they share with Tulane: private, highly selective, research-driven, nationally known. What Tulane is missing: a public commitment to athletics, and the investment to match.

Tulane belongs in this company.

Scan to read more

curemediocra.org

Sources: Front Office Sports; Vanderbilt Athletics; ABC7 Chicago; NCAA and NACDA records. Not affiliated with any university named. Not affiliated with Tulane University or Tulane Athletics.